HISTORIC TOWN CENTRE The historic town center contains medieval architecture that reaches from the castle and church to the Matarraña River. In 1390, the process started of stablishing a fortress and the fortification of the historic town. The ancient Four Eyes Stone Bridge is constructed with 'starlings' or abutments to strengthen the bridge and protect the village from flooding. The Gateway of San Roque was meant to open or close the main access to the town and it owes its name to the patron Saint Roque. Nowadays, you can still appreciate the remains of the old walls in different streets of the village, especially the Gateway of Bergós. The Palace is an example of Gothic architecture, as are the Fonda de la Plaza (Plaza Guest House) and the Valentinet Tower. The Iron Bridge dates from the first quarter of the 20th century and connects the Old Town with the residential district.

CASTLE According to documentary evidence, the origin of the castle starts at the end of the XII century although it probably has older origins. It is one of the main Gothic fortresses still standing in all of Aragon. The visit to the castle is exceptional and the panoramic views from the parade ground or the upper floor are spectacular.

CHURCH SANTA MARIA LA MAYOR The church and the castle are an inseparable architectural ensemble. They are located at the top of the village dominating the entire valley. This ensemble follows the peculiar Gothic style of the Crown of Aragon, based on one unique large room with an apse of the same width as the nave and the side chapels in between the buttresses. The façade offers a majestic image, exalted by the rose window that crowns it.

MUSEUM The foundation "Valderrobres Patrimonial" opened the museum and centre of interpretation of Valderrobres in 2015. The museum has three floors, two of them are used as centres of interpretation and are divided into four sections: Valderrobres, local Gothic art, local Renaissance art and local Baroque art. The semi-basement consists of different rooms dedicated to local painters and to Elvira Hidalgo, born in Valderrobres, teacher and friend of María Callas.

CITY HALL The Town Hall was built at the end of the XVI century. It belongs to the same mainstream building style as most of the town halls of Bajo Aragón and Matarraña. In 1924 it caught the attention of the creators of Pueblo Español in Barcelona, who chose it to dominate the main square. On 24 July 1982, it was declared a Cultural Interest Asset by UNESCO.

PRISON The prison is located in the town hall's basement and with it's thick doors and bars is still standing. The small and dark room help us appreciate the terrible conditions that the prisoners experienced.

NATURAL SURROUNDINGS It is posible to visit Los Santos Hermitage, Santa Magdalena Hermitage, La Caixa and Perigañol climb, Matarraña-Algars Natural Path, el Salt (waterfall), Pena Dam, Green Way Val de Zafán, equestrian routes, short-distance footpaths, BTT routes, unique trees, centenary olive trees, slow driving car routes and much more.

GASTRONOMY You can experience local olive oil, olives, almonds, honey, peaches, truffles, cheeses, cold meat, local dishes based on pork, rabbit, lamb, wine and traditional pastries such as "casquetes, crespells, rollets or carquinols" among others.

FESTIVITIES AND TRADITIONS Saint Antonio 17 January, Saint Águeda 5 Februari, Holy Week, Livestock Market/agricultural fair the first weekend of each May, Saint Cristobal 10 June, Romería Los Santos the Sunday before August's festivities, Patron Saint festivities in honour of San Roque the week of 16 August and the Trade Fair of September the first weekend of September.
